

Communications Disturbed Slightly by Aurora Borealis

Chicago Daily Tribune (1872-1963); Jan 18, 1941; ProQuest Historical Newspapers Chicago Tribune (1890 - 1984)

pg. 10

Communications Disturbed Slightly by Aurora Borealis

Earth currents induced by the aurora borealis, or northern lights, disturbed communications yesterday. Only minor disturbances were reported in the Chicago area. Wire services said the trouble diminished toward evening.

Reproduced with permission of the copyright owner. Further reproduction prohibited without permission.