

Aurora Borealis Again Seen Here

The Washington Post and Times Herald (1954-1959); Feb 11, 1958; ProQuest Historical Newspapers The Washington Po
pg. A1

Aurora Borealis Again Seen Here

Washington's skies were the scene of a spectacular display last night by the second Aurora Borealis seen here in three months.

The phenomenon, also known as Northern Lights, was first seen in the north at about 8 o'clock. It gradually moved to the northwest, turning from an intense red to a dark purple.

The last Aurora Borealis here was Nov. 6.
